

“Alone we can do so little. Together we can do so much”*

A high performing team depends on each and every member working together towards shared objectives. The question is... how do you create a team where every person is motivated to achieve their best? What will give them the desire to succeed, not only on a personal level but on a team level?

At Baobab Growth we encourage you to get away from your usual work environment. Start thinking differently by doing differently. A change in environment opens the mind to new and different possibilities. We work with you to develop relevant action orientated programmes that are fun and inspire creative thinking. We include ways of working towards solutions where everyone feels they have learnt and gained. We encourage open, honest communication to cultivate positive, supportive relationships built on integrity and trust.

We do this through a series of unique interventions that are suited to you and your team and can include indoor and outdoor activities as well as holistic therapies and mindfulness. We believe by exploring what motivates the individual, developing trust and sharing positive experiences you will develop the fundamental building blocks that are needed in a high performing team.

At Baobab Growth we use real business scenarios and deal directly with the issues that affect team performance. We work with you to unpack the challenges and coach you through effective solutions, resulting in radical change back at work. What this means for your organisation is enhanced productivity, improved staff morale and ultimately greater business success.

“Coming together is a beginning. Keeping together is progress. Working together is success.” Henry Ford

*Helen Keller, Author and political activist